REMOVAL.

The Office of the DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been removed to Carter's new brick block, corner of Front and Washington streets, upstairs. Entrance on Washington street, first door from Front.

The Union State Central Committee

The members of this Committee will meet at Salem to morrow, and will doubtless faithfully and discreetly do the work which belongs to them. As different plans have been suggested touching the course to be pursued, we may be pardoned for expressing in one or two respects, the views of Union men in this city and section, as we understand them.

As to the representation of the State in the National Convention, to nominate candidates of the Union party for President and Vice President, it has been suggested that the Committee might select Delegates, or authorize our Senators and Representatives in Congress to give the vote of the State. We believe there are strong and good objections to either of these modes of expressing the wishes of the Union men of Oregon. Delegates should be elected by the Convention—there will be ample time for so doing, if it is held as it ought to be during the latter half of the month of March, and those chosen will be able to go East and do their duty. We have no doubt that the Committee might, and would, make an excellent choice—perhaps the very men whom the Convention would elect, but if so, why not leave it to the Convention, as certainly all concerned will be better satisfied if the selection is made by a Convention meeting in part for that purpose, instead of by a committee who are not authorized to assume such a responsibility. We have no idea however, that any course will be pursued which will not give full satisfaction and perhaps need scarcely to have referred to this suggested rumor.

We hope the Convention will be held in March. The traveling is no worse then than a month later, and to accommodate our southern friends, who must travel by land, none in this region will object to meeting them as far up the river as they can go by boat. If possible, the convenience of the whole State, as to time and place, should be so consulted and considered as to leave no cause to any county for its failure to be represented.

Gov. Bramlette's Doctrine

Governor Bramlette of Kentucky received a letter lately from a Copperhead, who rebuked his call for volunteers on the ground that he was acting in concert with a dominant party, whose success would be more detrimental to Kentucky than that of the armed rebels themselves. To this the Governor wrote in reply that to preserve our nationality was the paramount duty of patriotism. He says:

> But you say the object of the war is to destroy Slavery and bankrupt the slaveholders. That the destruction of Slavery may be the result of the war seems now a strong probability, but such is not the object. Who made this war? Was it not the rebels? Had they any excuse for it? Have not all the evils, public and private, been the result of rebellion? * * * While the war of rebellion is upon us it is useless to talk about other objects of strife. The war is an immediate and unavoidable necessity, and is sufficient purpose, without any other suggestion. The existence of the war is an opportunity for fanaticism. The rebellion is the life of fanaticism. Subdue the one and you quell the other. Rebellion wafts fanaticism upon the rolling waves of bloody conflict, and subsists it upon the carnage of battle. The restoration of National authority over the revolted States is the only remedy for these evils, and until that be done we shall look in vain for security and exemption. * * * That measures are adopted and policies advocated which I deem grave errors is true, but while the main issue is depending, it is a weakness not incident to true patriotism, to stampede from duty because somebody else wishes to exceed duty. The war of rebellion is upon us. We have to meet it, no matter what other evils may come in its train. The success of rebellion would remedy none of these evils. The only remedy is the suppression of rebellion. He is but a quack and a fool who, while a thorn, visible to all, is rankling in the flesh, would address his remedies to the eruptions caused by the irritation of the thorn, and yet leave the thorn to fester and rankle in the flesh.

Peace Democrats, who have boasted that Bramlette belonged to their side, will please to follow his example, or acknowledge that he is too much of a patriot to have anything further to do with them.

AN EXACT PARALLEL.—When a road agent attacks a traveler, robs him and threatens to kill him, what would be thought of a third person, who seeing it all, rushes in and holds the sufferer, insists on his keeping the "peace," commences a long tirade about the wickedness of violence and bloodshed, and advises him to trust to the moderation, mercy and honor of the murderer whose knife is feeling for the victim's heart? Would not such interference prove sympathy with the robber? Would common sense regard the man who thus talked of peace as the friend of the assassin or of the traveler? Would men interpret his intentions by what he said or by what he did? Would any jury hesitate to convict him as an accessory to the vile crime?

We have exactly such a case. The traveler is the Union—the traitors are the robbers—Democrats who talk "peace" and strive to hold the hands of the Government, so that it shall not hurt the rebellion, are the accessories. Can they deny it? Do they not deserve to be denounced as friends of treason, and enemies to their country? Let common sense answer.

GENERAL BUTLER AND THE REBEL FITZHUGH LEE.—General Butler, in his first walk at Fortress Monroe, was astonished at meeting a rebel officer looking at a parade of troops. It was General Fitzhugh Lee. On being told that he enjoyed the liberty of Old Point, General Butler sharply expressed his disapproval of such a reprehensible courtesy. The next day Lee made a voyage to Fort Lafayette.

Heenan was dreadfully punished, and should have never been permitted to pass the twenty first round. King presented no visible marks of punishment except a mouse on the left eye.

Bell's Life concludes its description by saying that a braver contest was never fought.

AN OLD DESCRIPTION OF MODERN COPPERHEADS.—In one of the speeches made during the last war with Great Britain, by Felix Grundy, of Tennessee, occurs the following apt description of a thorough-going Copperhead, as seen at the present day:

> "An individual goes over, joins the ranks of the enemy and raises his arms against his country. This according to [illegible] of treason under the Constitution [illegible] to the enemy [illegible] in which case has he benefitted the enemy and injured the country most?"

Again, he says, in answering the question "Whom, then, do I accuse?"

> "I accuse him, sir, who professes himself to be the friend of the country and enjoys its protection, yet proves himself by his actions to be the friend of its enemy. I accuse him who sets himself to work systematically to weaken the arm of this Government by destroying its credit and damping the ardor of its citizens. I accuse him who uses his exertions to defeat the loan and to prevent the young men of the country from going forth to fight their [illegible] battles. I accuse him who announces with joy the disasters of our arms, and sinks into melancholy when he hears of our success. Such men I cannot consider friends to this nation."

INDIAN TROUBLES IN KLAMATH, CAL.—The following is from an extra of the Yreka Journal:

> A. E. Wagner, of Sawyer's Bar, writes us from that place under date of Dec. 22d, as follows:
>
> This afternoon intelligence reached here that the citizens of Hoopa Valley, Klamath county, as well as the command of Maj. Taylor were driven to the Fort and closely invested by the Diggers, and I am inclined to believe there is much truth in it, as the mail from Humboldt Bay is now twelve days behind time. Much apprehension is felt for our friends in the lower part of the county.
>
> We have also received the following note from [illegible] Luttrell, of Fort Jones, giving substance of a message received by Capt. Baird:
>
> A messenger has just arrived with U. S. Mail from Sawyer's Bar, with news that Maj. Taylor is surrounded by Indians at Fort Gaston, Hoopa Valley. All the citizens have fled to the Fort for protection, leaving the red devils in possession of all property. The inhabitants of Orleans Bar have fled to the Fort for protection, and the Indians are in possession of the town.

LOOKING AHEAD.—A Southern paper gives the following, which shows that one rebel General at least is beginning to fear that the race of brave men will die out, unless measures are adopted to hinder the breed of Southern cowards from increasing:

> "Applications for leaves of absence to Gen. W. H. T. Walker's division of Gen. A. P. Hill's corps were indorsed by Gen. Walker, 'Disapproved, but respectfully forwarded to Gen. D. H. Hill.' Gen. Hill indorsed it, 'Approved, on the ground that brave men of the army should be permitted to go home whenever practicable, otherwise all the children to be born during the war and the usual period afterward will be the offspring of the cowards at home who have substitutes or are otherwise exempt.' Gen. Walker, on the return of the application, cheerfully withdrew his disapproval and permitted the brave soldiers to go home."

THE MISSOURI IMBROGLIO ENDED.—Schofield, the thorn in the flesh of radical Missouri, has been removed and Rosecrans takes his place. Ewing, the beam in the eye of Kansas, is removed, and Curtis, acquitted of all charges of cotton speculations, is to take his place. The change from Schofield to Rosecrans must gratify all parties. If really this settles the Missouri fight, as it is said to do, President Lincoln will, without doubt, proclaim a private thanksgiving on his own account. Nothing has so much annoyed him—it was the skeleton that rattled its bones at every meal of the good old man. For his sake as well as Missouri's and the Union's, it is to be hoped that peace, so long a stranger, will prevail now in that region west of the Mississippi, where there is reform enough on foot and public sentiment grows fast enough to keep the people in a ferment, without any contentions between those who should be friends.—Bulletin.

A POLISH GENERAL'S RETORT.—Among other foreign officers who have been in the Union service was Colonel Smollinski, who raised six companies of lancers in New York, but lost the command when they were consolidated. On settling his account at the War Office, he was told by a boorish official that one item would be adjusted after the war, and he must wait. Subsequently it was learned that he was an experienced officer, and a Representative was sent to tender him a Brigadier General's commission. "Say," said the offended soldier, "to ——, that his offer will be considered after the war, and he must wait." He soon after returned to Poland, and he is now serving there in the insurrectionary forces as a Brigadier General.—Wash. Cor. New York Commercial.

CONDITION OF VICKSBURG.—The city of Vicksburg has been greatly improved under Federal rule. It has been cleaned of its accumulated garbage and filth, the barricades of earth have been removed from the streets, numerous stores have recently been reopened, and, though little business is yet transacted, it is hoped the embargo on trade will soon be removed, and then there will be great activity. Many churches and schools are again open, and the peaceful pursuits of trade and traffic are gradually gaining ground.

INCIDENTS OF THE NORTHWESTERN FAIR.—The great Fair at Chicago has developed in a very signal instance, the loyal feeling which animates that portion of our country. The pecuniary results are very gratifying, and numberless incidents have occurred which show the affectionate holds of the army upon the hearts of the people. We read of an old man nearly eighty, who with his aged wife, live in one little room, coming to the managers with a gift from his poverty. He had only two sons, both in the army, and he could not [illegible] but they had a few [illegible] and [illegible] they be of any service. An elderly German woman, poor as [illegible] with two sons in the army [illegible]. One could spare only fifty cents, but wished it was in her power to give a thousand times as much. Many costly gifts have been freely cast into the treasury by the rich, but nothing is fitter to be [illegible] than the simple offerings from the poor who give of their poverty and not of their abundance.

THE RICHMOND DANCE OF DEATH.—Says the Richmond Examiner of 24th of November:

> Four balls advertised and flour $110 per barrel. Who prates of famine and want? Who suffers privations [illegible] sorrows of life? Does not all go merry as a marriage bell? If the skeleton comes in, put a ball ticket at $5 into his bony fingers in masquerade ball costume, rap its back of bony links, and send the grim guest into the ball room to the sound of cotillon music.

The Escape of John Morgan

[Correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette.]

Your readers can imagine better than I can describe the surprise experienced by the denizens of the Capital City, at the announcement which greeted them this morning that the notorious rebel John Morgan, had taken French leave of the [illegible] which held him in durance vile, and was making good his escape beyond the limits of the Buckeye State. The report was so astonishing in its nature that at first but few persons were found willing to credit it, and even when it was confirmed through other channels it was still with much difficulty that many of the credulous could be induced to believe in its truth, so great was their confidence in the financial security of the walls within which the great horse thief was confined. But the skeptical were finally convinced, and it is now an undisputed though mortifying fact that the great raider and six of his companions have escaped from the place of their imprisonment, and are now doubtless making good use of their time with their [illegible] for Dixie. The manner in which they effected their escape clearly indicates that there has been gross negligence on the part of some one, for which he should be held responsible, and it is to be hoped that the proper authorities will give the matter such an investigation as will bring to light the guilty party, that he be made to receive the punishment he so richly deserves. Since their reception at the Penitentiary, the Morgan prisoners have been assigned to the south tier of cells in the new addition to the east wing of that institution. All but seven of these men were accommodated with cells in the upper ranges, but these seven, who were Col. Richard Morgan, Capts. J. C. Bennett, S. B. Taylor, Ralph Sheldon, T. H. Hinds, L. D. Hockersmith and G. S. Magee, were in the lower ground range. Underneath these cells, with about sixteen or eighteen inches of brick (mortar and cement intervening) there is an air chamber some six feet in length and four feet in width, extending the entire length of the range, for the purpose of keeping the cells dry and in a comfortable condition. It is said that one day, while in a lively mood, Hinds was dancing about his cell, and, from the character of the sounds emitted thereby, he concluded there was a vacant space underneath the floor. He afterward discovered the correctness of his supposition by digging through the floor of his cell. It seems more probable, however, that the rebels became aware of the existence of the air chamber in another manner, which is reported by the attaches of the penitentiary. This is stated to be, that upon complaining that their cells were damp, for which charge there was not the least foundation, they were told by a guard that it was impossible for them to be in that condition, as there was a large air chamber underneath which kept them dry. Be this as it may, an attempt to escape was determined upon, and on the 4th of November they commenced digging through the floors of their cells, using for that purpose two, perhaps more, table knives. After establishing communication with the air chamber, they excavated with a small coal shovel a tunnel from the east end of the chamber, passing under the walls of the prison, to the guard outside, to escape from which there would be but little difficulty. The men were engaged but three hours in each day for seventeen days in this work, as will be seen by the following note, which they left behind them:

> CASTLE MERION, CELL No. 20
>
> Commencement, November 4, 1863
> Conclusion, November 20, 1863
> Number of hours of labor per day, 3
> Tools, two table knives
> La patience est amère mais son fruit est doux.
> By order of my six honorable Confederates
>
> T. HENRY HINDS, Captain C S A

The French quotation in the note, when translated, reads "Patience is troublesome, but its fruit is sweet."

After manufacturing a ladder out of the bed ticking which was torn up for that purpose, all was in readiness for the men to take their departure.

It was part of their plan that Dick Morgan should remain behind while John made his escape, to accomplish which was almost as difficult as what they had already done. John occupied a cell in the second range, and in order to carry out the scheme it was necessary for him to exchange quarters with his brother Richard. This was not done until yesterday afternoon, when there was a convenient opportunity as the prisoners were being locked in their cells for the night. Instead of going to his own cell, Morgan slipped into his brother's quarters unobserved by the guard, while Richard was equally successful in taking the one on the second range, and though the guard, while on his usual rounds, stopped before the door and inquired if General John Morgan was there, to which Richard responded by showing his foot, the trick was not discovered until this morning after the birds had flown. It is not known at what hour in the night Morgan and his six companions named above escaped, nor have the authorities any clue as to which direction they took after leaving the prison. This morning their bed tick ladder was found suspended from the top of the walls, which they reached by climbing up a gateway close at hand.

There is a disposition on the part of many persons to throw the entire responsibility of this affair upon Captain Merrion, the Warden of the Penitentiary, which they would hardly do when informed that some weeks since he was relieved from the duty of taking care of the Morgan prisoners. While he had charge of them, which was up to the 3d of November, a convict was employed each day to sweep out their cells, and a guard stood by to see that all was right. It would have been exceedingly difficult for those seven men to dig through the floors of their cells under such an arrangement, but under the regime that was afterwards adopted, the task was quite easy for them. The military authorities assumed the responsibility of the safe keeping of Morgan and his crew on November 3d, and since then these prisoners have been required to sweep out their own cells without any examination on the part of those having them in charge being made, whatever. They were thus free from intrusion, and were in but little danger of being interrupted in their labors, and it now seems that they were not in the least disturbed. Some one is at fault in this matter, and an indignant public asks that he be dealt with as severely as his culpability demands.

Columbus, November 28th, 1863.

BEECHER ON WOOD.—In the farewell speech of Mr. Beecher, at Manchester, England, he thus spoke of the copperheads and their New York leader:

> Those who thought I believe, [illegible] danger [illegible] called Anti-Slavery [illegible] [illegible] when he declared [illegible] expected [illegible] (Applause.) [illegible] in the North [illegible] sword [illegible] [illegible] freely [illegible] [illegible] of Christianity [illegible] would [illegible] the mouths of [illegible].

There is a growing feeling in the Senate that no more Major or Brigadier Generals should be appointed who are not actually required for the needs of the army and the interest of the country.

Lord Clarence Paget, on the part of the English Admiralty, had written to the builder, stating that no decided answer could be given for the present, but the project was before their Lordships for consideration.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24.—It is understood that the National Conservative Union Convention, now in session in this city, has confirmed the nomination of Gen. McClellan for President, and have nominated Judge James Campbell of Pennsylvania, for Vice President.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—The following has been received: Hd. Qrs., Pocahontas county (Va.) Dec. 21st: I have the honor to report that I cut the Virginia and Tennessee railroad at Salem, Roanoke county, on Dec. 16th, and have arrived safely at this point with my command. At Salem three depots were destroyed containing 2,000 barrels of flour, a large quantity of wheat, corn, oats and various other stores, and 100 wagons. The telegraph wires were cut and burned. The track was torn up, and the rails heated and destroyed as much as possible in six hours time. Five bridges and several culverts were destroyed over an extent of 15 miles. A large quantity of bridge timber and repairing material was also destroyed. My march was retarded occasionally by a tempest in the mountains and by ice. I was obliged to swim my command and draw artillery with ropes across Craig's creek 7 times in 24 hours. On my return I found six separate commands, under Early, Jones, Fitz Lee, Imboden, Jackson, Reynolds and McCostin, arrived in line extending from Staunton to Newport, upon all the available roads to prevent my return. I captured a dispatch from Jones to Early, giving me his position and that of Clifton Forge. I marched from the front of Jones to that of Jackson at night. His outposts were pressed in at a gallop by the 8th Virginia Mounted Infantry, and two brigades crossed the Jackson river, although faggots had been piled ready to ignite the bridge. The column, four miles long, hastened across regardless of the enemy, until all but my ambulances and a few wagons and one regiment had passed, when strong efforts were made to retake the first bridge, in which they did not succeed. My ambulances and some sick men were lost, and by darkness and difficulties the last regiment was detained on the opposite side until morning, when it was ascertained that the enemy seemed determined to maintain his position upon the cliffs which overlooked the bridge. I caused the bridges, which were long and high, to be destroyed, and the enemy immediately changed his position to the flank and rear of the detachment which was cut off. I sent orders to the remnant to destroy our wagons, come across the river and on over to the mountains. They swam the river with the loss of four men drowned, and joined me. In the meantime the forces of the enemy, concentrating upon me, moved over every available road but one, which was deemed to be impracticable, but by which I managed to cross over the top of the Alleghanies with my command, with the exception of four caissons which were destroyed in order to decrease the trains of the pieces. My loss was six men drowned, one officer and four men wounded, and four officers and ninety men missing. We captured about 200 prisoners. My command has marched, climbed, slid and swam 355 miles, since the 8th December.

W. W. AVERILL, Brigadier General.

Bristol, Tenn., Dec. 21st.—In a skirmish on the 11th at Bean's Station, Tenn., the enemy, after a stubborn resistance, retreated toward Knoxville. We captured seventy wagons, loaded with stores. Our loss was 900.

CITY.

THE MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

New York Gold Quotations	6[illegible]
San Francisco Legal Tender rates	66@6[illegible]

TO OUR CITY SUBSCRIBERS.—We hope that in the [event] of any of our subscribers failing to get their [paper] as usual, they will inform us of the fact at [once]. Mr. M. M. SOUTHWORTH will, from to day [deliver] on the route south of Alder street, and Mr. J. [illegible] FOGARTY north of the same line. Not having [been] furnished with a complete list of our city subscribers, by our late carrier, they may find it difficult [at] once meet the wants of all our old patrons.

NOTICE TO CITY PATRONS.—Mr. L. M. Parrish [having] voluntarily relinquished his connection with the OREGONIAN, as carrier, is no longer authorized [to] collect or receipt for any moneys due this office.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The Directors of the Portland Public School yesterday appointed Ed[ward] P. Bebee, Esq., Principal, and James S. [Free]man, Esq., Assistant in District School, [No.] 1. These gentlemen, we are informed, [come] hither highly recommended both as regards scholastic attainments and moral character, and we have no doubt will acquit themselves in a creditable and satisfactory manner. They will enter upon their field of labor next Monday morning. The arrangement of the school will be as follows: Higher Department—Mr. Bebee and Miss Way. Intermediate—Mr. Freeman. Primary—Miss King. The Board of Directors have used their best judgment in selecting teachers from the numerous applicants, and their choice is not to be regarded as reflecting upon any of those whose applications were rejected.

COULDN'T STAND THE PRESS.—During the [heavy] and irregular gusts of wind which now [and] then flirted the water on their passage up [the stream] yesterday morning, a small boat containing two men hoisted sail and put out from the opposite shore for a trip to leeward. By [good] luck and management, they got along [very] well for two or three hundred yards, but [they] soon discovered that a sail had no business in a skiff just then, and letting go the [sheet], pulled ashore. Persons cannot be too careful on the river in flawy weather.

APPLES FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—We understand that there are now two cargoes of apples in store here, awaiting shipment to California markets. It was reported last night that if the steamer Pacific did not arrive this morning, the bark Industry, Capt. Corno, would [fit] up and load apples with despatch for San Francisco. Why not?

TURN VEREIN ELECTION.—At a meeting of the Portland Turn Vereins, held at their Hall [on] the 3d inst., the following gentlemen were elected to the various offices of the association [for] the ensuing year: F. S. Ostheim, President; Isaac Weil, Secretary; L. Waterman, Treasurer; E. Zeitfax, Turn Leader; S. Wa[ter]man, Assistant do.; Chas. King, Steward; Simon Gunz, Sing Leader.

SANITARY BALL AT VANCOUVER.—We have [been] requested by Mrs. Annie C. Covington, [Sec]retary of the Ladies Sanitary Aid Society, [of] Vancouver, to announce that a ball will be [given] at that place on Thursday, 7th instant, [on] behalf of the Sanitary Fund. It is hoped [that] there will be a generous attendance, for [a] good time is anticipated. Admission three [dol]lars in coin.

CRIMINAL CHARGE.—Kittemier, whose arrest was referred to yesterday, was brought [before] Esquire Grey, and after examination [was] bound over in the sum of $500, to appear [at] the next term of the Circuit Court. Mrs. [illegible], the wife of the man shot, and her father [were] charged as accessories; the latter was [bound] over in the same sum as Kittermier, [but] she has not been arrested.

BENEFIT THIS EVENING.—"Reddy," the [City] Bill Poster, will take a benefit at the [Wil]lamette Theatre this evening, and we bespeak for him a good house. "The Honeymoon," followed by two songs, a recitation [and] dance, concluding with "A Kiss in the [Dark]," forms an attractive bill, and we hope [will] fill the last seat.

PRECAUTION AGAINST FIRE.—This weather, which occasions the consumption of an unusual quantity of fuel, has a tendency also to desiccate the materials which compose a majority of our habitations, and should incite [our] fellow-citizens to a use of every precaution against fire, which under present conditions, would be much easier started than stopped.

SWINGING SIGNS.—During the high winds [of] yesterday morning, we noticed many signs suspended over and across the sidewalks, levering and lunging about in a manner which threatened to sunder their frail fastenings, to [the] demolition of the said signs, or of any [care]less pedestrian who chanced to interrupt [their] progress to the earth.

COLD SNAP.—Night before last and yesterday gave us the first taste of genuine winter [we] have had for the season. At ten A. M., [the] mercury stood at 24°, at half past two, P. [M.], 25°, and at half past six, P. M., at 23° [a]bove zero, with a downward tendency as the [eve]ning advanced.

THE shaft of the steamer E. D. Baker has [been] brought down, and was yesterday taken [to] the Oregon Iron Works, where it will undergo some changes to make it fit a new boat [buil]ding above.

FUNERAL LODGE.—By reference to a special [no]tice in another column, it will be perceived [tha]t the Masonic Fraternity attend the obsequies of a deceased brother, from their Hall, [at] one o'clock, this afternoon.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to the Mercantile Library Association Fund amounted to $2,200 at four o'clock, yesterday. The probabilities now [are] that this amount can be nearly if not quite [dou]bled.

SKATING TO-DAY.—Considerable sport is anticipated to-day on Couch's Claim Lake, which is represented as frozen sufficiently [soli]d to ensure safe skating.

THERE is no other way to cure diseases but by first purifying the whole system so as to create a healthy circulation.

The first medical men of the age agree with us, that no disease of any extent can be cured without using such medicines as will act directly upon the blood. The many thousands of bottles which have been used by the public, and the many gallons and barrels supplied to the physicians, warrant us in saying that the last two years we have been more successful with our Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup in curing hopeless cases of chronic diseases than have any other remedies in the hands of physicians, or before the public.

An Incident.—An American seaman died suddenly at Nagasaki, Japan, for whom a grave was dug in a little cemetery belonging to the Dutch, a few miles out of town.

When the body arrived there, and the chaplain and procession with it, to give the rites of Christian burial, to their surprise they found two Japanese priests, with shaven heads and flowing robes, and incense, and tinkling bells, bending over the grave, and offering their prayers, such as they were, for the stranger! It was a strange sight, and touching as well as strange.

They readily retired, however, when the Christian service began, remaining a few paces back, but looking on with seriousness and reverence to the close. As the procession from the ship was withdrawing, the chaplain observed a weeping willow growing by the gateway of the cemetery, and thinking to do an act of respect to his poor countryman, who sleeps there almost alone, and so far from kindred and home, he broke a twig from a pendant branch of the willow to plant at the head of the grave.

Instantly one of the priests seized the idea, and ran across the road to an old Japanese cemetery, pulled up a joint of bamboo planted before a grave, about two feet long and one inch in diameter, and hollow, which the Japanese are accustomed to fasten in the ground before every grave, and fill it with a plant or flowers. Water may be poured into it, or the showers fill it, and thus the plant takes root, and the flowers be preserved for a long time in freshness and fragrance. Divining the object in breaking off the twig of willow, the priest rose and presented the bamboo, which is planted at the head of the grave of poor Charles Seagraves, with the willows in it, which will doubtless thrust its roots into the earth, and grow up a tree for long years waving and weeping over this American stranger. Could anything be more humane or more delicate?

A Heavy Train at the Capital.—The Washington Republican has the following:

She was a glorious creature—perhaps a little vain—as she swept along the Avenue, drawing a silken train. Her robe was very costly, her train was very long, and murmured admiration swelled out from every throng of idle swells and loafers the fair one chanced to meet, or who ogled her from taverns and corners of the street. And thus she promenaded through many weary squares, astonishing the people with her grand and lofty airs. But at length her train grew heavy and with labor on she strode, while her garment, like a drag-net, took the sweepings of the road. On she struggled, till she fainted, her brain spun quite round, and two near-at-hand policemen tried to bear her from the ground. But, tho' well and able-bodied, their strength was all in vain; they could lift the gentle damsel, but they couldn't budge her train. At last her skirt was lifted, and a terrible mess lay weltering there, beneath the dress of the lady fair? There were quids of tobacco, and stumps of cigars, "old sogers" that surely had been "through the wars"—a dead rat and a sausage, an old "doggertype," cock-roaches, live spiders, and pieces of tripe, all plastered together with feculent dirt—a pretty appendage to an elegant flirt! They lifted her tenderly—handled with care—put her into a hack and sent her home, and it is to be hoped she will not again be guilty of promenading in her evening dress.

A Voluble Frenchman—literally a citizen of the world, we should say—was pompously naming over the different cities of Europe in which he had sojourned at various and distant periods of his life.

"I did live," said he, "in Paris twelve years; in Rome I was live six years; in Londre I was stay seven years; in beautiful Florence (O, ze fresh grape and ze bon vin, in the morning!) eight year; in San Petersbourg in ze summer time, eight years; in Naples I was reside eleven year; and so he went on, while our friend, pencil in hand, was "putting down the figures."

"Do you say you lived in all these European capitals all those years?" and he read each separate entry over to the Gallic Munchausen, with the date of his sojourn in each.

"Yes; zat is right."

The figures were added up, and the way they Daboll'd was peculiar.

"Why," said the Professor, in his gravest manner, "my dear sir, you are over a hundred and seventy five years old!"

"Ah, no! zat cannot be. Read him over 'gain."

The statement, item by item, was recapitulated. "Zen it is so; and I am a hundred and seventy-five year old! I no mistake ze time zat I live in those places!"—Knickerbocker.

A Prompt Reprint.—Mr. B——, a well known Metropolitan printer, once told us that on one occasion an old woman from the country came into his printing office with an old Bible in her hand. "I want," said she, "that you should print it over again. It's gettin' a little blurred, sort of, and my eyes isn't what they was. How much do you ax?" "Fifty cents." "Can you have it done in half an hour? I wish you would—want to be gettin' home—live good ways out in the country." When the old woman went out, he sent round to the office of the American Bible Society and purchased a copy for fifty cents. "Lor' sakes a massy!" exclaimed the old lady, when she came to look at it, "how good you have fixed it!—its e'en amost as good as new. I never seed nothin' so curious as wot printin' is!"

Negro Sermon.—"There are," said a sable orator, addressing his brethren, "two roads troo dis world—the one am a broad and narrow road, that leads to perdition; and the oder a narrow and broad road, that leads to destruction." "What's dat?" said one of his hearers; "say it again." "I say, my brethren, there are two roads troo dis world—the one am a broad and narrow road, that leads to perdition; the oder a narrow and broad road, that leads to destruction." "If dat am the case," said his sable questioner, "dis eluded individual takes to the woods!"

We meet with this impressive and startling thought in one of our exchanges:

We do not die wholly at our death; we have mouldered away long before. Faculty after faculty, interest after interest, attachment after attachment, disappear. We are torn from ourselves while living; year after year sees us no longer the same, and death only consigns the last fragments of what we were to the grave.

"Do you consider lager beer intoxicating?" "Vell," replied W——, "ash for dat, I gant say. I drinks feefty or seexty glasses a day, and it never hurtsh me; put I don't know how it wouldt pe if a man vash to make a hog of hisself."

At a spiritual circle the other evening a gentleman requested the medium to ask what amusement was most popular in the spiritual world. The reply was "Reading our own obituary notices."

Logical Sentence.—A Judge in India thus addressed a prisoner prior to passing sentence: "Prisoner: Providence has given you a good degree of health and strength, instead of which you go about the country stealing ducks."

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.
BRIMFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.
DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.
A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."
Croup, Whooping Cough, In-
SPRINGFIELD, Miss., Feb. 7,
BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your Pectoral is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people. HIRAM CONKLIN, M.
AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEREY, IA., writes, 3d Jan., 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your Pectoral by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."
Asthma or Phthisic, and Bro-
WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4,
SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.
HENRY L. PARKS, Mer-
A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE Co., Iowa, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."
We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.
Consumption.
Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.
ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 5,
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.
Yours, with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, of Sh-
Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all round us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, in diminished doses the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.
The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for the use and certificates of their cures of the following complaints:—
Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.
Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.
